Safitri Rachmayani¹, Adi Djoko Guritno², Muhammad Prasetya Kurniawan³

Social media marketing has developed into a marketing tool used by many businesses, including the coffee shop business. However, trust is necessary for consumers using social media to find information related to the products offered by the coffee shop. Therefore, this research aims to analyze the effect of social media marketing attributes on coffee shop consumer trust in Sleman Regency, to identify the influence of consumer trust in mediating the impact of social media marketing on purchase intention in coffee shops in Sleman Regency, and gives recommendations and suggestions for the development of social media marketing for coffee shop business people. Collecting data was carried out by distributing questionnaires and obtaining as many as 155 coffee shop consumer respondents were then analyzed using SEM PLS for hypothesis testing. The results show that entertainment is the attribute of the social media marketing that directly influences purchase intention. Trust is proven to affect consumer buying interest and can mediate the effect of electronic word of mouth and interaction on consumer interest. This research also provides suggestions and recommendations for coffee shop owners to develop and maximize social media marketing to attract consumer buying interest.
