

Table of Contents

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION	7
1.1 Background.....	7
1.2 Research Question.....	9
1.3 Theoretical Framework	9
1.3.1 Postcolonialism: Determining which Knowledge ‘matters’	9
1.3.2 Subalternity	9
1.3.3 ‘Green Colonialism’ as a form of Colonial Legacy	11
1.3.4 Indigenous Sovereignty	12
1.4 Main Argument	12
1.5 Research Methods	13
1.6 Thesis Structure.....	13

CHAPTER II

ENVISIONING IDEAL NARRATIVES OF THE 30-BY-30.....	15
2.1 History of the 30-by-30 Framework	15
2.2 The 30-by-30 Framework: A Fusion of Two Worlds.....	16
2.2.1 First Narrative: Procedural Justice for Developing States	18
2.2.2 Second Narrative: Orientation to “Mother Earth Centric Actions”	19
2.3 Contemporary Developments: Indonesia under the 30-by-30 Framework.....	19
2.4 Indigenous Peoples: Traditional Ecological Knowledges (TEK).....	22
2.5 Subalterns on the Status Quo: Indonesian Indigenous Lives.....	24

CHAPTER III

IDENTIFYING CHARACTERISTICS OF GREEN COLONIALISM IN THE 30-BY-30 FRAMEWORK: DISMANTLING SUBALTERN LIVES.....	27
3.1 A Procedural Flaw of the 30-by-30: The Representation Paradox	27
3.2 A Symptom of Green Colonialism	29
3.3 Epistemic Violence: How ‘Conservation’ Encompasses Green Colonialism.....	30
3.4 Sidelineing Indigenous Knowledge.....	32
3.5 Dismissal of Indigenous Sovereignty: Foreclosing Colonialism.....	33

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION: IMAGINING INCLUSIVE CONSERVATION FRAMEWORKS	36
--	-----------