

Table of Contents

Approval Sheet	i
Statement of Originality	ii
Acknowledgment	iii
Abstract	vi
Abstrak	vii
Table of Contents	viii
List of Tables	x
Chapter I	1
Introduction	1
A. Research Background	1
B. Literature Review	2
C. Research Question	4
D. Research Limitations	4
E. Theoretical Framework	5
1. Deterrence	5
2. Security Dilemma	6
F. Research Method	7
G. Hypothesis	8
Chapter II	10
Indonesia's Position in the Shifting Geopolitical Landscape: Assessing Regional Threat Perception, Hard Power, and Strategic Alignments	10
A. Indonesia's Potential Threats and Shifting Regional Tension	10
a. Threat perception shift	10
b. The United States' Hard Power and Behavior	11
c. China's Hard Power and Behavior	13
B. Measurement of Indonesia's Hard Power and Foreign Policy Position	14
a. Indonesia's Hard Power Capability	14
b. Indonesia's Foreign Policy and Political Stance	16
c. Comparison to AUKUS and Regional States	17
Chapter III	20

Indonesia's Endeavor to Enhance its Hard Power and Soft Power	20
A. Historical Advancements in Hard Power Capabilities	20
B. Ongoing Initiatives to Strengthen Hard Power.....	21
C. Future Plans for Enhancing Hard Power	23
D. Past Developments in Soft Power Strategy	24
E. Current Soft Power Engagements and Policies	26
F. Projected Soft Power Goals and Vision	27
G. Indonesia Military Capabilities Development.....	29
H. Global Military Ranking	31
Chapter IV	36
Conclusion and Recommendations.....	36
A. Conclusion.....	36
B. Recommendations	38
References	40

List of Tables

3.1. Evolution of Budget, Assets, and Strategic Posture	29
3. 2. Indonesia's Standing Among Regional and Global Armed Forces	31