PREFACE

The author expresses sincere gratitude to those who have supported the completion of this thesis, which was submitted as part of the requirements for the International Executive Master of Business Administration (IEMBA) program at Gadjah Mada University. This journey has been both challenging and rewarding. The author would like to extend special thanks to the following:

- Leo Indra Wardhana, SE., MSi., Ph.D., for his invaluable guidance and constructive feedback throughout the preparation of this thesis.
- Lecturers of the IEMBA program at Gadjah Mada University, Jakarta campus, for their knowledge and expertise that enriched this academic journey.
- The author's family and friends, for their unwavering support, love, and encouragement, which has been a source of strength and motivation throughout this process.
- The author's office team in CRIF for their understanding and emotional support. Their understanding and encouragement helped me persevere during the most challenging phases of this thesis.
- Fellow IEMBA batch 14 - 15 students, for their friendship, teamwork, and shared experiences.

The author has endeavored to as much as possible in completing this thesis, but the author is aware there are many drawbacks in terms of both content and grammar, then the authors welcome any suggestions and constructive criticism from readers for this thesis perfectly. The author hope the contents of this paper will be useful in enriching the repertoire of knowledge. The author hopes that this work will benefit readers and contribute meaningfully to academia, policymakers, and the private sector.
