The purpose of this study is to determine and examine the implementation of the Decision of the Plenary Meeting of the Indonesian Notary Association Central Board regarding the conditions of joint apprenticeship and the response of prospective Notaries to apprentices to the implementation of joint internships.

In this study, researchers emphasized empirical normative research. This is based on the data that researchers use in the form of primary and secondary data. Empirical normative legal research is very relevant to be used to see the Implementation of the Decision of the Plenary Meeting of the Indonesian Notary Association Central Board regarding the conditions of joint apprenticeship and the response of prospective Notaries to apprentices to the implementation of joint internships.

Based on the results of this study is the First Implementation of a joint apprenticeship apprenticeship held by the Regional Board of Indonesian Notary association is an objective of joint apprenticeship efforts in an effort to increase the competency of Notary candidates to become a professional Notary to discuss about how the Notary's practice of making a deed that is in accordance with the regulations, as well as in accordance with the code of ethics. Second, the response of the implementation of a joint apprenticeship in Badung and the place of joint apprenticeship is in the Regional Management Secretariat, although with only one day per semester and quite a lot of material. Joint internship is a simultaneous training to equalize the perception of a notarial deed. At the time of the internship with the trainees listening to the material given or sharing with friends the different places of internship were different perspectives as well as how to handle clients. Therefore, it is necessary to hold a joint internship to increase knowledge of prospective Notaries.
