This study aims to: 1) find out and analyze the role of the Notary Regional Supervisory Council and the Notary Regional Honorary Council in enforcing the Notary Code of Ethics in Sleman. 2) find out and analyze the form of cooperation between the Notary Regional Supervisory Council and the Notary Regional Honorary Council in the context of imposing sanctions in the event of a violation of the Notary Code of Ethics in Sleman.

This research is an empirical and descriptive study, primary data are obtained through interview with interview guidelines. Determination of the sample is based on purposive sampling with the sampling technique that is used is non-probability sampling. This study is analyzed qualitatively by using method of inductive thinking, all data are arranged systematically to provide a comprehensive understanding.

The result of this study is the Notary Regional Supervisory Council and the Notary Regional Honorary Council in enforcing the Notary Code of Ethics in Sleman which is still lack of effective role. Supervision and guidance can not be carried out optimally, because the Notary Regional Supervisory Council only supervises once a year so not all Notaries in Sleman are examined as a whole. The Notary Regional Honorary Council supervises incidentally, so supervision is not regularly scheduled. Guidance has not been effective because the two councils have not been able to provide ongoing guidance for sanctions that are imposed on Notaries who violate the Notary Code of Ethics, there has been no more strict sanctions that are given to Notaries who violate the Notary Code of Ethics repeatedly or Notaries who do not improve after being sanctioned. The cooperation between the Notary Regional Supervisory Council and the Notary Regional Honorary Council is coordination and cooperation, which are the coordination and cooperation of guidance, coordination and cooperation of supervision, and coordination and cooperation of development.
