ABSTRACT

AN ANALYSIS ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF GOOD CORPORATE GOVERNANCE AT PT. XYZ

The governance of corporations in Indonesia adopts the two tiers system in which the organs of the company consist of stockholders' general assembly, the board of commissioners, and the board of directors. Listed and non-listed companies, either state-owned enterprises or private enterprises participate in the implementation of good corporate governance. Even though listed corporations are especially obliged in the implementation of good corporate governance, because they have the responsibility to perform information transparency for the public, non-listed companies also need to implement good corporate governance. This research focuses on the implementation of good corporate governance in non-listed companies. The aim of this research is to analyze corporate governance by using the Corporate Governance Self Assessment Checklist developed by the Forum for Corporate Governance in Indonesia (FCGI) and to analyze the implementation of KNKG good corporate governance. The conclusion of this research shows that the assessment on the quality of good corporate governance using the tools developed by FCGI demonstrates good results, which enables it to be improved; and that the companies also have implemented the principles of KNKG good corporate governance, namely, transparency, accountability, responsibility, independence, and appropriateness and equality whenever they carry out corporate activities, therefore, the companies have implemented good corporate governance
