

The purpose of this Graduating Paper is to give information about the practice of gamelan inventory in Theater and Performance Unit. The aim of inventory property is to give open information to all of the employees PT Taman Wisata Candi Borobudur, Prambanan dan Ratu Boko (PT Taman Wisata Candi) especially in Theater and Performance Unit. Furthermore, this Graduating paper will examine about how PT Taman Wisata Candi implement website application to be simulation media of gamelan inventory. This application website gives convenience in accessing information about gamelan inventory for all the employees of this company.

I had an opportunity to do internship on 1st February until 31st May 2016 to access the information about gamelan inventory in Theater and Performance Unit. The methods of collecting data used are observation, interview, note taking and documentation. I also practice the theory of performative research methodology from Brad Haseman by using digital code for website application

In this graduating paper, I discuss a website application for gamelan inventory that I produced. Gamelan inventory is needed to organize property administration system. Thus, website application is used as media of computerized system to help administration process in office. The benefits of this website application is that all employees of Theater and Performances Unit will be able to access information about gamelan inventory more easily and more quickly by using online system provided by the website application. Therefore, the importance of utilization of a computerized system can provide an easy way on property inventorial.
