ABSTRACT

The present thesis discusses the role of Provedoria dos Direitos Humanos e Justiça/ Ombudsman for Human Rights and Justice in assisting the nation in the fulfillment, protection, enforcement, and to create community awareness and public officials based on the importance of respect and practices of human rights value, which is actualized for the nation life. This research, in the effort if answering these questions, is focused on PDHJ activities in public services, such as dissemination, training, seminars, workshops, delivering petitions, monitoring, advocacy, research and investigation to public officers and government institution and the state, in order to handle all forms of human rights violations occurred in TL, within the period of 2009-2014.

The research of the thesis employed qualitative methods. It produced a number of related ideas; how the state should be responsible for the protection of the victims' rights done by public authorities. In this thesis, PDHJ built diplomatic channels with the government, NGOs, international organizations, activists, think tank, and the media related to the promotion, protection and fulfillment of human rights.

The conclusion in this thesis is to build preventive lines and the strengthening of PDHJ institutions by improving its weaknesses. These are the efforts to replenish employees having integrity and professionalism in order to fill the vacancy in Human Rights Division, especially in the areas of investigation, promotion and education, monitoring and advocacy; to support the disclosure works of human rights violation; to prevent; and to promote recommendation exposure to the public for strengthening the authority and functions of PDHJ.
